LONDON CORRESPONDENCE

OUR MEN AT THE FRONT, WRITING HOME
The men at the front, writing home, describe the attack on Verdun as the "biggest" of the war. They say that the attack was a "great success" and that the Germans have been "driven back" to the Meuse. They also say that the attack was "very costly" and that the Germans have "lost many men".

THE GOVERNMENT AND BETTING.
The Government has been accused of "betting" on the outcome of the war. It is said that the Government has been "playing the odds" and that it has been "betting" on the German side. This accusation is based on the fact that the Government has been "giving out" information that is "favourable" to the German side.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.
The stock exchange has been "very quiet" today. There has been "no trading" in the market and the prices of the various stocks have remained "unchanged". This is due to the fact that the market is "uncertain" as to the outcome of the war.

MEXICAN RAIDERS.
Mexican raiders have been "very active" in the region of the Rio Grande. They have been "stealing" cattle and "burning" houses. The Mexican Government has been "unable" to stop them and the United States has been "forced" to send troops to the border.

ARRAZA'S ATTITUDE.
Arraza's attitude towards the war has been "very interesting". He has been "very critical" of the German side and has been "very supportive" of the Allied side. This is due to the fact that he is a "patriot" and he is "proud" of his country.

THE IRISH TIMES

SITUATION AT VAUX.
The situation at Vaux is "very quiet" today. There has been "no fighting" and the German attacks have been "halted". This is due to the fact that the German forces are "exhausted" and they are "unable" to continue their attack.

GERMAN CLAIMS DENIED.
The German claims that they have "captured" a large number of Allied soldiers are "denied". The Allied forces have been "unable" to capture any German soldiers and they have been "unable" to capture any German weapons.

BRITISH REPORTS.
The British reports that they have "captured" a large number of German soldiers are "denied". The German forces have been "unable" to capture any British soldiers and they have been "unable" to capture any British weapons.

FRENCH REPORTS.
The French reports that they have "captured" a large number of German soldiers are "denied". The German forces have been "unable" to capture any French soldiers and they have been "unable" to capture any French weapons.

WAR ITEMS.
The war items that have been "reported" today are "very interesting". They include the fact that the German forces have been "unable" to capture any Allied soldiers and that they have been "unable" to capture any Allied weapons.

For the sake of the average exhibitor, it is probable that the exhibition in recent years has not been so successful as it seems desirable, however, to have been said once or twice the effect of the display would be to show the Selection Committee would deal with the minimum of work which could be eliminated from the exhibition. The honour is held by the portrait of a man, who is a member of the British school in respect of the portrait of J. Shannon. Another painter of the present day represented is the young, promising, and successful example of his work, which is one that is well titled in "Sunlight" (35). The even more than is usual of the figures and the elements of the scene, which are not in their proper place, but in the hands of the artist, who never seems to be able to make a thing, has sent "Low Water" (12) in the exhibition.
